

How is my Qlarant PDR QO Score Calculated?

Qualified Organization (QO) PDR TOOLS

- The Overall PDR QO score is comprised of an Administrative Review score and a Service Specific Record Review (SSRR) score.
- The Administrative Review score is comprised of the following review tools:
  - General Administrative Review (GAR): scored once for each QO.
  - Staff Qualifications and Trainings (Q&T): scored on a sample of WSC and Consumer Directed Care (CDC+) Consultant staff records.
  - All standards scored within the Administrative Review are worth 1 point each.
- The SSRR score is scored on a sample of records from individuals receiving WSC or CDC+ Consultant services from the QO.
  - SSRR standards are worth 1, 2, or 3 points:
    - Health & Safety related standards are worth 3 points.
    - Person Centered and Billing related standards are worth 2 points.
    - Other basic requirement standards are worth 1 point.

HOW TO CALCULATE YOUR PDR QO SCORE

Step 1. Determine the total # of points your organization earned through the Administrative Review and SSRRs.

Step 2. Divide total # of points earned by the total # of points possible through the Administrative Review and SSRRs.

Step 3. Subtract 5 percentage points for each alert type (up to 15 points)

Note: Standards that do not apply to the QO, at the time of the review, are marked Not Applicable (NA). Standards marked NA are not included when calculating the PDR QO score.

**Refer to “How My Score is Calculated” tables at the end of your PDR QO report for more detail.*

ALERTS: Some standards scored within the PDR may result in an Alert. 5 points are subtracted from your PDR Score for each type of alert.
A maximum of 15 points can be subtracted for Alerts.
